How do you stay informed of current events when visual or other physical impairments mean you can't read the newspaper?

From news and views to advertisements to obituaries, you can stay connected to the community through a free local radio reading service. Each weekday, volunteers for Augustana Public Radio Information Service (APRIS) read local and regional newspapers aloud.

WVIK Augustana Public Radio provides this service through special receivers, loaned free of charge, to visually or physically impaired individuals, their families or caregivers. To benefit from this service, call APRIS at (309) 794-7560.

Operational and equipment support is provided by WVIK members, by individuals and families as memorials, and by the following:

Pat Devine-Cummings in memory of her cousin
Lawrence E. Olson
Susan Downey-Graybill in memory of Lawrence
E. Olson
Illinois State Library Information Service
Illowa Bi-State Combined Federal Campaign
QC Plus 60 Club
Rauch Family Foundation
River Cities Rotary
United Way of the Quad Cities
Virdi Eye Clinic
WVIK Vision Circle Members

If you or someone you know would like to make a gift, please contact the development director at (309) 794-7552.

Please consider WVIK and APRIS in your estate planning. To make a pledge, go to:

AUGUSTANA PUBLIC RADIO

What is APRIS?

Using a special radio receiver, APRIS provides people with visual or other physical impairments the free service of news read aloud from local and regional newspapers. Anyone who cannot read or hold a newspaper, and who lives within 45 miles of the Quad Cities, may use this free information service.

APRIS is a broadcast service of WVIK 90.3 FM at Augustana College.

For more information on APRIS and other WVIK programs, go to www.wvik.org

How can I use APRIS?

If you or someone you care for would like a free receiver to use APRIS, call (309) 794-7560 or email APRIS@wvik.org, or simply fill out the request form attached to this brochure and mail it to:

WVIK/APRIS
Augustana College
639 38th Street
